

Agents using MoxiPresent see an average of 43% more transactions every year.

MoxiPresent is the industry-leading real estate comparative market analysis (CMA) tool that enables agents to seamlessly guide their clients through the home buying or selling journey, embracing their role as a trusted consultant while appearing tech savvy and innovative in the eyes of their clients.

This easy-to-use presentation builder can be used to create CMAs, open house presentations, listing presentations, neighborhood tours, relocation presentations, or just about anything else.

Easy-to-Build Presentations

The pre-made templates available within MoxiPresent provide agents with modern, engaging, and easy-to-digest presentations to impress their clients with. For those who want more freedom, the custom page builder is also available.

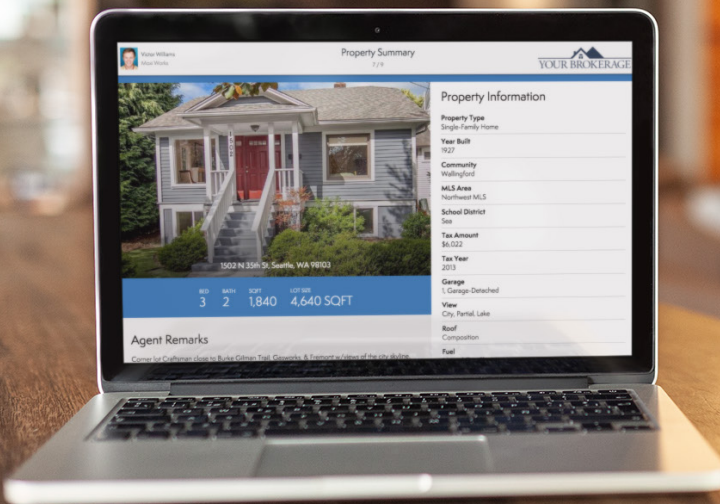

Interactive and Live

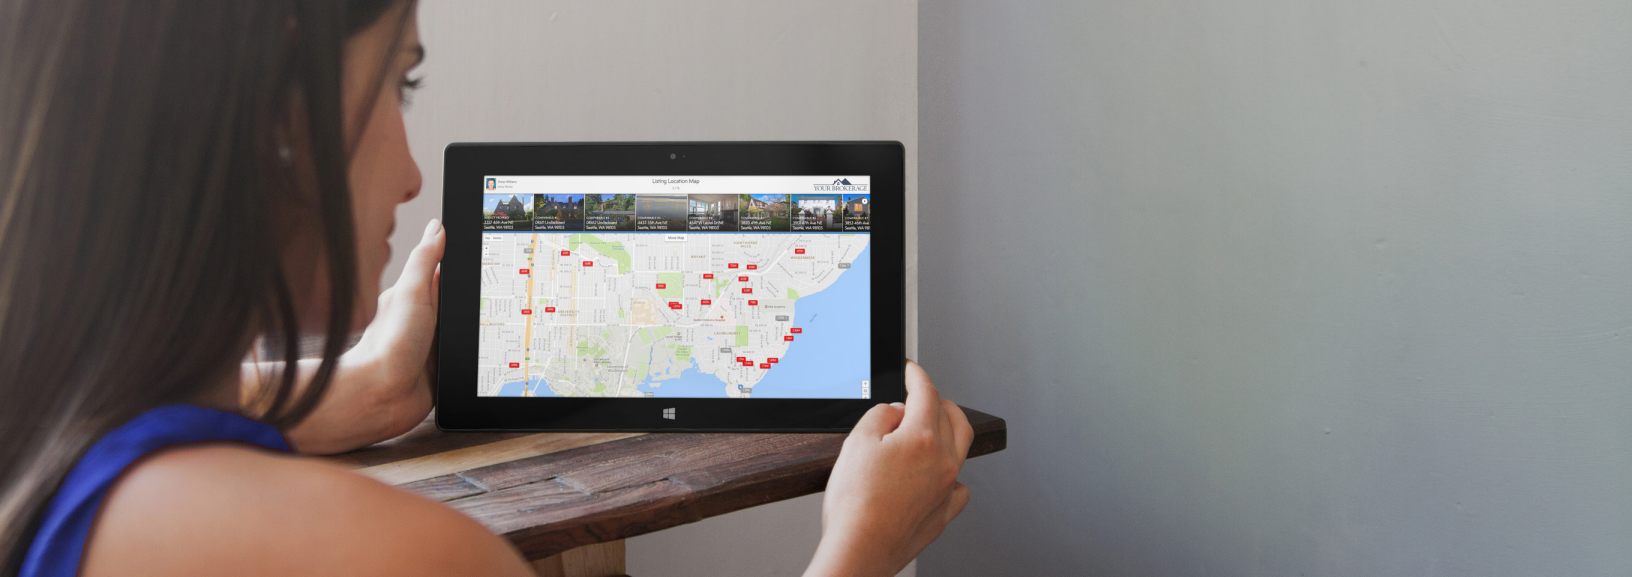

Unlike the old-school static printed presentations that we all know and hate, MoxiPresent presentations are interactive and live with the most up-to-date MLS listing information. This enables agents to make last-minute changes to presentations and respond to client objections in the moment. It's the wingman that will never let you get caught off guard.

On-the-Fly Editing

On-the-fly editing allows them to easily overcome objections and make adjustments in real time to respond to client feedback.

Brokerage Branded

You have total control over the branding of your agents' presentations, ensuring your brand is always displayed in the best light possible. Every time your agents share a presentation, it expands your reach and helps you attain the brand recognition you need to stay competitive. Can you hear your marketing team's tears of joy? We sure can.

Drive Time

Thanks to our integration with Intrix, the Drive Time feature of MoxiPresent allows agents to visually demonstrate any commute-related questions clients may have on the fly, as well as highlight speedy routes as major selling points during listing presentations.

Engaging Multi-Media

MoxiPresent offers a level of customization that will allow you to tailor your presentation to each individual client, house, or market that you're working with. Clients want to feel special, and the ability to include video and other rich media will catch their attention and win them over, even if it doesn't require very much work (which it doesn't).

Buyer Tours

Agents can create live, dynamic buyer tour presentations, giving their clients the ability to rate and comment on properties as they tour, creating a dialog with the agent.

Quick & Easy Listing Flyers

Say goodbye to the wonky, off-brand listing flyers that are ruining your brokerage's rep – MoxiPresent allows agents to easily make on-brand listing flyers with a few simple clicks. With listing data already available, agents simply select which to include and choose from a variety of templates that are guaranteed to make the listing pop.
